Knowledge Co-Creation Program (Group & Region Focus)

General information on

Lifestyle-Related Diseases Prevention

課題別研修「生活習慣病予防対策」

JFY 2024

Course No.: 202311466J001

Course Period in Japan: From November 19, 2024 to December 13, 2024

This information pertains to one of the JICA Knowledge Co-Creation Programs (Group & Region Focus) of the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) implemented as part of the Official Development Assistance of the Government of Japan based on bilateral agreement between both Governments.

JICA Knowledge Co-Creation Program (KCCP)

The Japanese Cabinet released the Development Cooperation Charter in June 2023, which stated, “In its development cooperation, Japan has maintained the spirit of jointly creating things that suit partner countries while respecting ownership, intentions and intrinsic characteristics of the country concerned based on a field-oriented approach through dialogue and collaboration. It has also maintained the approach of building reciprocal relationships with developing countries in which both sides learn from each other and grow and develop together.” JICA believes that this ‘Knowledge Co-Creation Program’ will serve as a foundation of mutual learning process.

I. Concept

Background

Recently, as reported by World Health Organization (WHO) and other organizations, developing countries are increasingly facing spread of lifestyle-related diseases (LSRD, here after), otherwise known as non-communicable diseases (NCD), and they are expected to increase in the future. LSRD is a syndrome whose onset or progression is provoked by human lifestyles, such as less balanced daily diet, lack of exercise, stress, smoking and drinking habits. As LSRD leads to premature death and lowers quality of lives (QOL), effective LSRD prevention/control policies are urgently sought in developing countries.

Primary prevention (health promotion, behavior change and social support) and the secondary prevention (early detection and prompt treatment) are both important LSRD measures and coalition of prevention and medical care is indispensable. It is also important to formulate LSRD prevention/control policies based on the local contexts and to select most effective measures in accordance with the stage of LSRDs in the country.

Japan has a long-term experience of taking measures against major LSRDs and thus we believe that we can utilize such experiences to support solve those problems in developing countries, though there are some differences in types and causes of LSRDs.

For what?

This program aims to contribute to better health and welfare of the people in developing countries by transferring the knowledge and skills related to LSRD control measures. Participants will acquire Japanese knowledge and application skills to take effective measures in area of responsibility.

For whom?

The target of this program is the government officials who are responsible for the LSRD control policy in the countries that are currently facing or expected to have an increase of LSRD in the future.

How?

Participants shall have opportunities to learn effective measures against LSRD, such as health check-up system, health education and physical exercise through lectures, practices and observations. In the end of the program, each participant will select suitable measures to control LSRD in one's country and formulate an action plan describing what one will do after going home. Participants will receive advice and comments from the lecturers and fellow participants in consultation and presentation sessions.

JICA and Capacity Development

Technical cooperation is people-to-people cooperation that supports partner countries in enhancing their comprehensive capacities to address development challenges by their own efforts. Instead of applying Japanese technology per se to partner countries, JICA's technical cooperation provides solutions that best fit their needs by working with people living there. In the process, consideration is given to factors such as their regional characteristics, historical background, and languages. JICA does not limit its technical cooperation to human resources development; it offers multi-tiered assistance that also involves organizational strengthening, policy formulation, and institution building.

Implementation methods of JICA's technical cooperation can be divided into two approaches. One is overseas cooperation by dispatching experts and volunteers in various development sectors to partner countries; the other is domestic cooperation by inviting participants from developing countries to Japan. The latter method is the Knowledge Co-Creation Program, formerly called Training Program, and it is one of the core programs carried out in Japan. By inviting officials from partner countries and with cooperation from domestic partners, the Knowledge Co-Creation Program provides technical knowledge and practical solutions for development issues in participating countries.

The Knowledge Co-Creation Program (Group & Region Focus) has long occupied an important place in JICA operations. About 400 pre-organized courses cover a wide range of professional fields, ranging from education, health, infrastructure, energy, trade and finance, to agriculture, rural development, gender mainstreaming, and environmental protection. A variety of programs is being customized by the different target organizations to address the specific needs, such as policy-making organizations, service provision organizations, as well as research and academic institutions. Some programs are organized to target a certain group of countries with similar developmental challenges.

Japanese Development Experience

Japan, as the first non-Western nation to become a developed country, built itself into a country that is free, peaceful, prosperous and democratic while preserving its tradition. Japan will serve as one of the best examples for our partner countries to follow in their own development.

From engineering technology to production management methods, most of the know-how that has enabled Japan to become what it is today has emanated from a process of adoption and adaptation, of course, has been accompanied by countless failures and errors behind the success stories.

Through Japan's progressive adaptation and application of systems, methods and technologies from the West in a way that is suited to its own circumstances, Japan has developed a storehouse of knowledge not found elsewhere from unique systems of organization, administration and personnel management to such social systems as the livelihood improvement approach and governmental organization. It is not easy to apply such experiences to other countries where the circumstances differ, but the experiences can provide ideas and clues useful when devising measures to solve problems.

JICA, therefore, would like to invite as many leaders of partner countries as possible to come and visit us, to mingle with the Japanese people, and witness the advantages as well as the disadvantages of Japanese systems, so that integration of their findings might help them reach their developmental objectives.
